

BIONNALE is the largest networking event for life sciences and healthcare industries in the German capital region.

Representatives from industry and academia attend the annual life sciences event in Berlin to stay informed about current topics and developments in life sciences and to engage strategic relationships. The networking character is a strength of the multi-session event with more than 900 attendees from over 20 countries in the last year. Be part of BIONNALE 2018 and use informative talks and new contacts for your business.

We look forward to meeting you in Berlin!
